

- 1 Point of embarkation of Continental Troops (1777 and 1778) in unsuccessful attempts to retake Newport from occupying British. (Marker designating site).
- 2 Ft. Barton - Revolutionary War Redoubt. Named for Lt. Col. Wm. Barton who, with 40 men, captured Gen. Richard Prescott, Commanding Gen. of British troops occupying Aquidneck Is. (July 1777) Marker - open every day of year.
- 3 Sin & Flesh Brook. In the spring of 1676, a Quaker named Zoeth Howland was ambushed and murdered by Indians. His mutilated body was thrown into this brook at this spot - hence the intriguing name. (No marker)
- 4 Lafayette House - 3119 Main Rd. - where Marquis de Lafayette was billeted during 1778 campaign against British. (Marker - private home).
- 5 Home of Capt. Robert Gray (3622 Main Rd.), first person to carry American flag around the world, and the discoverer of the Columbia River (State of Washington). (Marker - private home).
- 6 Soule-Seabury House - Tiv. 4-Corners - excellent example of Federal architecture (1809). Built by sea captain involved in China trade - Cornelius Soule. (Marker - private home)
- 7 Chace-Cory House - Tiv. 4-Corners. (1730) Fine example of farm colonial architecture: central chimney, 5-rooms, gambrel roof. (Marker - open certain days.)
- 8 Three British men-of-war scuttled (July 1778) ALARM Galley (10-guns), SPITFIRE Galley (8-guns), Sloop KINGFISHER (18-guns). (No Marker)
- 9 Fish Road - originally Eight-Rod Way, laid out as a highway between Sakonnet Pt. (Little Compton) and Plymouth, MA. (Road signs)
- 10 Eagleville Village - site of a highly successful cotton and woolen factory complex of early 1800's. (No marker - mill dam pond).

This document prepared by Dr. James Holt and Mr. John Berg. Printing funded by R.I. Heritage Comm. and Tiv. Town Council.